From the Principals

Students at Concordia, across all three campuses ELC-12, are involved in many engaging, relevant, challenging and significant learning experiences throughout the school year. Our commitment to ensuring that our curriculum meets these criteria continues to be a strong and ongoing focus. It is important that we also support and encourage students in their learning and acknowledge their progress and growth along the way - a valuable and important part of the learning journey.

Towards the end of each school year, we celebrate milestones in this journey through a number of more formal events that seek to acknowledge students and their learning and provide important encouragement. During these specific celebration events, our students also have the opportunity to share their learning with their parents, caregivers, other students and teachers.

In our primary schools, an example of one of these milestone celebrations is the Year 6 PYP Exhibition. The Exhibition is the culmination of the International Baccalaureate Primary Years Programme (IB PYP) and showcases the learning of our students throughout the primary years. It is a wonderful celebration of the skills, knowledge, attitudes, conceptual understanding and action they have developed on their primary school journey.

Term 4 is more than just the final stretch of the school year in the Middle and Senior School; it's an exciting opportunity to celebrate student learning and recognise the incredible achievements of our students. Among the events we have that highlight the learning accomplishments of our students is Launchpad. This is an event that takes place in Week 5 and is a platform whereby students can showcase their creativity and entrepreneurial spirit. It's a culmination of hard work and innovation where students are encouraged to present their projects and learning artefacts that have taken shape throughout the year.

Events such as these underscore the idea that learning is not limited to textbooks, but instead extends into the realms of innovation and creative expression. As we enter this exciting phase of the school year, let us celebrate our students' academic successes and their creative endeavours.

St John's Campus Year 6 Exhibition Update

Term 4 sees the St John’s Campus Year 6 students participate in the PYP Exhibition, an inspiring showcase of learning where students use all the skills they have developed throughout their Primary School learning journey.

This year, the focus for the St John’s Campus Year 6 Exhibition is on action and how students can take action to make a difference in the world. They began their term and their Exhibition journey with an Action Week. This week was full of excursions and guest speakers who all helped to educate and inspire students with the different ways people can take action to make a difference in the world, including:

- Visiting the South Australian Art Gallery to see how art can be used as a call to action
- exploring the MOD Museum where they saw informative exhibits designed to inform and challenge our thinking
- hearing from candidates for state elections who shared about creating a message and sharing it through a political election campaign
- meeting a public relations account director who shared with students about creating PR campaigns and sharing a message effectively
- listening to people who have made a change in their own lifestyle to help make the world a better place
- meeting employees at a football club and hearing about their community initiatives
- taking action personally by helping keep some public parks clean and free of litter.

Having developed an understanding of some of the ways they can make a difference in the world, students have now selected the type of action they feel will be most effective in their personal area of interest and are beginning to learn about this action type. Some examples include students who are planning:

- a beach clean up to combat marine pollution
- a sporting program to increase female participation in AFL
- designs for apps and websites for everything from identifying sustainable clothing brands to filtering negative messages on social media.

Their next steps will be to develop a plan for the action they are going to take, including developing campaign proposals, risk assessments and communication plans.

Students are very excited to be getting involved in making a positive change.

We look forward to sharing the difference our Year 6 students are making later this term.

Year 9 STEM Enrichment Conference

A group of year 9 girls attended the STEM Enrichment conference at Flinders University on Wednesday 25 and Thursday 26 October. The girls heard from role models at various stages of their careers in medical fields, physics, applied chemistry and forensic science. Some of the hands-on sessions had a focus on sustainable 'green chemistry' such as making soap and plastic bottles from seaweed. Other sessions had fascinating demonstrations of gravity, AI use in facial recognition and electroplating their own keyrings. They enjoyed networking with scientists and met many old and new friends from other South Australian schools. The experience is invaluable in raising aspirations and breaking down barriers for girls considering STEM pathways.

"I thoroughly enjoyed getting a bit of insight into what my future studying science could look like by touring around Flinders University campus and participating in multiple experiment practicals as well as lectures from other women in STEM. I learned a lot about the opportunities and pathways I could go down after high school and became aware of a variety of STEM subjects that were previously unknown to me. Overall, I'm very grateful for this experience and would definitely like to encourage other girls at Concordia to research into the vast options that STEM subjects have to offer." - Charlotte (9TPRE)

"The course was really fun and fascinating, and I learned a lot about the types of sciences involved with STEM. I never knew just how broad the range of scientific courses and jobs available for girls was. Most science events that I have gone to before showed the same experiments, where I don't learn anything new, but I learned so much more about having a career in STEM than I thought that I would, and it changed my mindset on what I might do later in life." - Annabel (9TPRE)

There may be similar opportunities in 2024 for Year 9 and 10 girls, so get in touch to express your interest.

Experiences at the University of Cambridge

Here are some reflections from Sienna (Year 11) on her residential course at the University of Cambridge. Speak with Mrs Rieger to learn more about enrichment opportunities like this one. Sienna took part in the Brain Bee Challenge in Year 10 (an extension opportunity offered at Concordia) which helped her realise her love for neuroscience.

What study did you complete in July?

I did a residential neuroscience course over a two-and-a-half-week program at the University of Cambridge. This course consisted of several topics, such as the neuroscience behind human intelligence, dorsal-ventral areas of the optical neural tract, and anatomic research. We looked at clinical methods and practices and explored the technology behind diagnostic tools like CT and MRI scanners.

What 3 words would you use to describe the experience overall?

Adventurous. Exciting. Collaboration.

What is one moment from the trip that will live in your memory forever?

I will always remember when a few friends and I were able to wander through the streets of Cambridge at sunset. We were able to compare cultures and I was able to teach them some Australian slang.

Tell us about what an average day involved?

An average day starts with classes beginning at nine, but breakfast was given to us in the dining hall. The first class could be theory work, a guest speaker, an excursion into town to a museum, or a test. After the first lesson, we were free to have lunch. Lunch was often bought in the markets from the variety of stalls. The second class of the day would then start at two and go until four, often consisting of class study sessions in a café or park in town, and free time to work on our academic papers. In the times between dinner and the last class, we had the freedom to do anything we wished. People would often catch up and go on outings to town. Dinner was provided to us. Afterwards, there was more free time - various optional events for us to do, such as mixers, going to the movies or bowling.

How has this experience changed you?

I feel like this experience has had a profound impact on me. I grew as an individual, as I had to learn how to be fully independent. I also had a greater appreciation for what the world has to offer and the opportunities available to get what you want out of life.

What are you currently considering doing after you complete Year 12?

I want to pursue medicine after school. I hope to study my undergraduate in Adelaide and this trip has inspired me to get my doctorate overseas.

Cello Quartet Recording

Concordia College is blessed to have an outstanding Cello Quartet which rehearses each week with the highly creative composer/director Stephan Richter. Stephan writes all the pieces for this unique ensemble which are played with brilliance by Georgina (Year 11), Sam (Year 11), Reuben (Year 10) and Sherry (Year 9). On Thursday 2 November, the Cello Quartet recorded four pieces in the Concordia College Media Studio. The students were outstanding, playing with maturity and professionalism. Their musicality shone through and we look forward to sharing the outcome with the community soon.

Many thanks to Simon Kuchel and Ben Wallis for their time and expertise.

Once Upon a Festival

Last Friday, a group of 30 students from Years 7-10 attended the Once Upon a Festival – a literary festival for students. During the day they participated in workshops and attended talks presented by leading Australian authors and visual storytellers, including Aska, Will Kostakis, Miranda Luby, Amie Kaufman, Karen Ginnane, Mike Lucas, Nova Weetman, Astrid Scholte and Joel McKerrow.

The presenters all encouraged students to undertake their own creative pursuits and shared how each of them have overcome their own insecurities and “imposter syndrome”. Students were reassured that we are all continually in a process of growing and improving. The first draft always needs work, but the creative process and persistence is worth the effort.
